INTRODUCTION

Arthur's Knights – Tales of Chivalry immerses you in the history of Arthurian legend, in 5th Century England, where stories of men and women who lived and died in this era of heroism, continue to inspire and heighten our imagination.

Discover this era through the beliefs of the period, as fairies flit, giants roam and dragons haunt dark ancestral forests...

Take on the role of Bradwen, the illegitimate son of the King of the Atrebates, one of the many tribes of England. Cadfanan, your father, has entrusted you with defending the kingdom against all evil and against all enemies.

BACKGROUND

In the 5th Century, England was known as Britain. Conquered by the Romans at the beginning of the Christian era, Britain was later abandoned and left to fend alone against the threat of barbarian invasions. Without the protection of the Roman legions, Britain's provinces were laid waste by the barbarians, whose only law was the Law of the Strongest.

As Roman cities were pillaged and burnt, the Britons were disillusioned and abandoned Roman law and returned to the way of life of their Celtic ancestors. Britain became split into numerous small kingdoms, waging war against each other. Faced with the dangers of this dark age, some Britons implored the Christian god for protection; while others, led by Merlin, tried to find the lost secrets of the ancient druids.

STARTING THE GAME

When you select to play the game, the first screen which appears is where you will select your character. There are 5 slots available from which to play a game.

You may wish to play the Celt warrior game and the Christian knight game simultaneously. You may do this by selecting Player One and play the game as a warrior, then quit that game and select Player Two to play as a knight.

THE MAIN MENU

At the Main Menu, you may Start a New Game, Resume a Game, Load a Saved Game, Review the Options Menu (which allows you to personalize the gameplay), Return to the Player Menu, View the Credits, or Quit out of the game.

To start a new game, select 'New Game.'

THE OPTIONS MENU

Graphics Card - For computers with multiple graphics cards, select the card with which you wish to play the game.

Sound Card - For computers with multiple sound cards, select the card with which you wish to play the game.

GAMEPLAY

When you select to start a New Game, the introduction will play. After the introduction, and after speaking to Master Foulque (click on Master Foulque's image at the bottom left of the screen) you must choose which path you will take first.

BRADWEN'S TWO PATHS

Choose between two different adventures, determined by two different paths:

Select the red book for the first adventure, to play Bradwen the warrior, raised in the Celtic tradition and with druidic beliefs. As a Celt warrior, Merlin is your guide and the fairies are your allies.

Select the white book for the second adventure, to play Bradwen the knight, raised in the Roman tradition and the Christian faith.

The two adventures gradually introduce you, as Bradwen, to the Code of Chivalry and two, very different, worlds: the Celtic world that is coming to an end and the New World of the Middle Ages.

To select a path, when in front of the red or white book, press the Space Bar to pick up the book and place it in inventory.

Control the character to speak to Master Foulque, right click the mouse to bring up the inventory bar, click on the book and speak with Master Foulque again and the story will begin...

THE CODE OF CHIVALRY

Whichever path you choose, you must always obey the Code of Chivalry. You must overcome the trials, which confront you on your chosen path, while remaining true to the Code of Chivalry.

Remember: the easier path is not always the best route to take. Your sense of honor will be tested. If you give in to temptation, you will, ultimately, reach your goal, but not chivalrously. For example, it is not always wise to consider killing your enemy as your first and only choice. You alone must choose between honor and the easier path.

THE INTERFACE BAR

To display or hide the Interface Bar during gameplay, click the right mouse button.

The far left side of the Interface Bar (the Activity Screen) represents where you are in the game, if a conversation is possible, and if you may engage in combat.

Next to this area is the Inventory of Items, Subjects (Clues) and Destinations.

- The Item Inventory is represented by the hand.
- The Subject Inventory is represented by the mouth.
- The Destination Inventory is represented by the horse.

Note:

- Inventory items may only be used when Bradwen is on foot.
- Subjects may only be used when Bradwen is speaking to another character.
- Destinations may only be used when Bradwen is on horseback.

To the right of the inventory slots, is the Storyline icon. As you progress through the adventure, you will be able to read about the adventure as it is taking place.

At the far right of the Interface Bar, is the green 'Menu' globe. Clicking on this menu allows you to: access the Historical Database, Save your current game, or Quit your current game.

ITEM INVENTORY

As you proceed in the adventure, you will acquire various items and clues from conversations and new destinations will become available to you.

Press the Space bar to pick up an item. As soon as you acquire a new inventory item, a new clue or a new destination, the corresponding icon will appear at the top left of the screen with an arrow indicating that it is now being placed in your Interface Bar.

Click the right mouse button during gameplay to bring up the Interface Bar.

Select the 'Hand' icon to access the 'Items' Inventory.

To use an inventory item: you must be standing still, then simply click on the corresponding inventory item icon.

If the correct inventory item has been selected, then the character will use it in that particular part of gameplay. If the character is not in the correct position or if it is not the correct item, nothing will occur.

An inventory item that has been given away, or is no longer needed, will disappear from the inventory menu.

CONVERSATIONS

During your adventure, you will collect clues, which represent many different topics of conversation. Available clues will appear in the subject (clue) inventory.

When you meet a character you are able to speak with, a panel will appear, bearing the character's image, at the bottom left of the gameplay screen. Click on the image to start the conversation. Continue the conversation by clicking on the image. When the cursor by the image spins around, this indicates that you must carry on the dialog.

When the cursor becomes still, you may either end the conversation by moving away from the character, or you may view the contents of your inventory, by right-clicking the mouse. Inventory items acquired during conversations will often provide additional conversation topics with the character you have just spoken with.

Right mouse click to open the Inventory Bar, select the 'Mouth' icon to see new conversation items.

When you meet someone, available conversation topics will be highlighted. Conversations topics not available to you at this time will appear dimmed.

A clue that is no longer useful will automatically disappear.

NAVIGATION AND DESTINATIONS

The game is played using the arrow keys of the keyboard. Arrow key navigation allows for precise movement of the hero.

The menus are browsed using the mouse pointer.

In the course of your adventure, you will be able to explore the various regions of Britain, including the Kingdoms of the Atrebates and Cornwall, and Camelot.

You may use the Destination Inventory to move from one region to another. Click the right mouse button during gameplay to bring up the Interface Bar. Select the horse icon to access the Destination Inventory.

If an icon representing a region is displayed in the Destination Inventory, simply click on the icon and you will automatically be taken there.

Note: Bradwen must be on horseback to be able to travel from one region to another. He cannot travel to another land if he is on foot.

Once you have arrived in a region, you will first travel on horseback. As soon as you reach a place that is significant in the adventure, Bradwen will dismount his horse.

When Bradwen is on horseback, he may only move from one place to another. No form of interaction is possible in this navigation mode.

When Bradwen is on foot he will be able to interact normally. To run, or to gallop when on horseback, hold down the shift key and continue directing your movements using the arrow keys.

Note: not all locations may be accessed at the start of the adventure. You, as Bradwen, will gain access to them as the adventure progresses.

ACTION KEY

Press the Space Bar to speak to someone, to open a door, or to pick-up an inventory item.

Note: Bradwen must not be moving and he must be looking at the person or object you wish to perform the action on for the Space Bar action to be effective.

SAVING A GAME

You may save at any time during gameplay by the following actions:

- Access the Interface Bar by right clicking the mouse.
- Click on the green 'Menu' globe on the far right of the Interface Bar.
- Select 'Save.'
- At the Saved Game screen, click on an empty slot and select 'Save.'

LOADING A PREVIOUSLY SAVED GAME

---

You may load a previously saved game at any time during gameplay by the following actions:

- Access the Interface Bar by right clicking the mouse.
- Click on the green 'Menu' globe on the far right of the Interface Bar.
- Select 'Quit Current Game.'
- At the 'Main Menu', select 'Load Game.'
- Click on the previously saved game you wish to return to and select 'Load.'

COMBAT

As Bradwen, you will confront many opponents to complete your quest. As Bradwen is a knight, he cannot attack someone without provocation.

When the combat icon, the red sword, appears above the image of the person you are speaking with, you may choose to engage in combat. If you choose not to enter into combat, click on the mouth. If you click on the red sword icon, you start the combat process and there is no turning back!

Once the red sword has been selected, you must then select your weapon from the object inventory by clicking on the appropriate inventory item icon. This decision is vital; it is the difference between victory and defeat. The combat will then begin automatically.

Note: you are a valiant knight, but some opponents are superior to you. Pay attention to the rumors you hear surrounding your enemies and learn about their strengths and weaknesses. You may not want to engage in battle every time the opportunity presents itself.

THE BOOK OF ADVENTURES (THE STORYLINE)

As you progress in your adventure you will be writing the legend of Bradwen. All the important actions you make during gameplay, are recorded by Foulque in the Book of Adventures.

The pages of the book will automatically turn over during gameplay. This indicates that a new event has been added to the Book.

Access the Book by clicking on the 'Storyline' book icon in the Interface Bar. Select the quest that you would like to consult.

Return to the game by quitting the Book.

THE HISTORICAL DATABASE

The Historical Database is accessed from the game menu, by clicking on the green 'Menu' globe in the interface bar.

The Historical Database presents the many different facets of the Arthurian legend and is added to as the adventure progresses.

When the green 'Menu' globe becomes lit up during the gameplay, this indicates that a new sheet has been added to the Historical Database.

There are two documentary databases, one for the Celtic world and another for the New World of the Middle Ages.
